Thank you for your interest in Neda Communications, Inc.

Neda is a provider of consulting services to the data communications industry. Within our domain of expertise, we are a broad-spectrum consulting company–in addition to the traditional consulting company roles (strategic planning, systems analysis, education), we also do hands-on engineering design, development and integration work. We deliver practical, effective solutions, that fully meet the requirements of our clients.

This package provides basic information about our company and our services. The left and right sides of this folder provide different types of information. The left side contains various background materials that will tell you something about our company history, philosophy, and past accomplishments. The purpose of the left side is to establish our credentials–both as intellectual leaders within our industry, and as the builders of real-world engineering systems.

The right side tells you what value we can offer our clients today. Here you will find information about our services, our skills, and our people.

On the Left: Our Credentials

What we provide in the left side of the folder changes quite frequently, but typically we include a selection of the many articles and technical papers we have written, describing our vision for the future of the Internet Services industry, and our industry-building initiatives. We also provide one or two articles that have been written about us, providing independent third-party validation of our vision.

On the left you will also find Things We Have Built , a summary and reference for our most significant accomplishments: the Libre Services initiative, our By* family of Libre Services, and the WhiteBerry mobile messaging solution. To learn more about who we are, we invite you to explore and try out any of these working engineering constructs for yourself.

In terms of establishing our credentials, we have far more than can be provided in this folder. For much more, please visit any of the websites referenced in Things We Have Built , or contact us directly.

On the Right: Our Services

While the left side is about what we have done in the past, the right side is about what we can do for you today. Here you will find detailed information about our consulting services, our Internet Service offerings, our Data Center, and resumes for our principal team members.
